

Bonus Army Breaks Camp, Vets Off for Their Home States

Bethlehem Steel Company Agrees To Pay For Special Train Carrying Veterans Home—Expect To Set Up Camps In Capital Cities.

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP).—Huddled silently about smoldering bonfires, their meagre belongings tucked away in sacks and nondescript bundles, the Bonus Expeditionary Force waited to be taken home today.

Beyond camp fire smoke screens, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad trains made special preparations to move another trainload of men and their families.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey, dashing vigorously here and there directing activities, announced that western units will continue moving out through the day.

California, Chicago, Kansas City and a part of the St. Louis contingent left during the night amid cheering songs and the stirring music of a band. Camp officers said between 900 and 1,100 men left on the 14-car special train, but other observers estimated not more than 500 men were on the train.

A number of women and children were in the contingent. Thousands of citizens crowded the sidewalks while long lines of automobiles congested streets in the southern part of the city, requiring intensive activity on the part of city police and state highway patrolmen to make lanes for the marchers.

The Johnstown chamber of commerce issued a statement last night that it had made arrangements to finance theodus of all visiting veterans from this locality. The chamber refused to name the sources from which the funds were received, but The Associated Press learned that Bethlehem Steel Company, which has a large plant here, agreed to pay for the special train.

Only one delegation, Illinois, had definitely decided to converge immediately on its state capital as the first groups left squalid Camp McCloskey for their home states. Springfield, Ill., was the goal of the group which was taken to Chicago, whence it planned to move en masse on Sangamon county city.

Expect to Set Up Camps. Leaders of other contingents held only tentative plans for immediate action, although the majority said they expected eventually to set up camps at their capital cities.

Meanwhile, a group of those remaining awaited word from Doug A. Carter, assigned chief of staff, who left late yesterday for Huntington, W. V., where he planned to arrange an encampment.

Eddie Atwell, representative of Commander W. W. Waters of the B. E. F., took over Carter's duties at Johnstown and, assisted by D. B. Ellison, national contact officer, hurried through work by moving the tented vets out of the steel city.

Extra police and state troopers were stationed at various points near the camp, on Johnstown streets, and on highways as crowds of curious onlookers continued to filter into the city. Pickpockets appeared last night in the throngs which filled streets.

Mayor McCloskey carried in his pocket a message of praise from General Smedley D. Butler as he arranged departure of the second group of vets for St. Louis today. Butler commended the fighting ex-pugilist for handling the situation as he did.

A late night development came with announcement of J. A. Kennedy of Philadelphia that he and his aides had successfully thwarted an intended march on Harrisburg to picket the executive mansion of Governor Pinchot. Kennedy, aide to Waters, said he had been chosen commander of the 1,500 Pennsylvanians in Camp McCloskey.

NEW YORK STATE ANNUAL GOLF TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—With the battle lines tightly drawn between contenders from Metropolitan and upstate areas, the ninth annual New York State Amateur Golf Tournament got under way here today.

Nearly a hundred aspirants for the throne vacated by T. Phillips Perkins, now turned professional, took the field for the 18-hole medal qualifier, which will eliminate all but 32. The qualifiers will play two rounds of 18 holes match play on both Friday and Saturday, clearing the way for the 36 hole final on Sunday.

Three Sullivan Co. Hotels Robbed

Monticello, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—Three Sullivan county hotels catering to the New York vacation trade have been robbed this week, and many New York City persons lost their money and jewelry. About $1,200 was taken from the safe at the Hotel Regan in South Fallsburgh. The Apple Grove House at Woodbridge and the Hotel Evans, Klamath, also were robbed.

Paint Shop Proprietors Held

New York, Aug. 4 (AP).—A man and a woman, both proprietors of paint shops on the lower east side, were held today in connection with recent deaths from poisonous alcohol. There have been 24 deaths in the past week. Both prisoners were charged with homicide.

Confesses Slaying Girl, Saved from Mob

Francis Nash, Strange Recluse Describes How He Murdered Pretty 17-Year-Old Evelyn Sanford.

Indians, Mich., Aug. 4 (AP).—Francis (Burr) Nash, strange recluse, covered in a police cell today after confessing he strangled pretty 17-year-old Evelyn Sanford.

Stunned by the discovery of the girl's bruised body in a shallow cellophane grave in Freesoil yesterday, residents voiced threats to lynch Nash. He was spirited from Freesoil to Traverse city yesterday and today police waited for hostile feeling to subside before arraighing him on a murder charge. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment.

Tell-tale scratches on the 31-year-old recluse's face led to his arrest, police said. His confession declared he waylaid the young farm girl Saturday night on a lonely road leading to her home and killed her in anger when she repulsed his advances.

Nash was spirited to Traverse city from Mainstreet yesterday afternoon when discovery of Evelyn's body buried in the cellar of a deserted hut in Freesoil aroused threats of violence.

A signed statement which it was asserted Nash made to state police, Sheriff George L. Colyer and prosecutor P. R. Von Sprecken, said he met Evelyn near the edge of a swamp, and attempted to put his arm around her. She slapped him. He struck her with his fist, the statement added, and she fell unconscious to the roadway. Then he rolled her body down an embankment and returned to his home for some rope and a gunnysack. He could detect no heart action in the girl, he said, but to make death certain he tied a loop of rope tightly around her throat. The post mortem examination disclosed that the rope caused death.

Then he trussed up the body with rope and gunnysacking, stole a two-wheeled cart from a nearby house and wheeled the body to the hut at the rear of his own home where he buried it. It was there the body was found yesterday as the tragic conclusion of a four day search. Nash denied that he attacked or attempted to attack the girl.

False Move Costs Convict His Life

New York, Aug. 4 (AP).—Ralph Richards, the convict whose nimble wits gave police plenty of grief, lost his life today because he made a false move.

He reached for his hip pocket as Patrolman Rowan Kelly ordered him out of an automobile last night to answer for a $12 robbery. Kelly shot him in the stomach, and he died early today.

Richards, a half brother of Vincent Richards, tennis star, reached the high point of his picturesque career July 16 when he led three other convicts to liberty from Eastview Penitentiary. He thwarted the "escape-proof" lock-up mechanism by inserting a leather strip in the lock of his cell so that it would not close but would register as closed on a central indicator.

He had a long police record, ranging from grand larceny charges to alleged drug law violation, but he escaped prison until he got a year for fighting with a state policeman at Croton in 1928. His end came after Richard Greh of Eighth avenue ran to Policeman Kelly and complained three men had just robbed his apartment of $12, and were fleeing in a car. The policeman caught up with the car as it stopped at a red light.

Richards's companions said they were George Gregory and Anthony Scallie. Richards, defiant to the last, said before he died that he was Don Marquette and lived in "a bath" at Coney Island.

Russia's Hand Seen At Trade Conference

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 4 (AP).—The hand of Soviet Russia was seen at the imperial trade conference today as reaching forth to snatch New Zealand's market for oil from the United States.

It was reported that the Associated Motorists' Petroleum Company of New Zealand, which heretofore has bought its gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oils from the United States, and from the Netherlands Indies, had obtained an exclusive monopoly on the importation, distribution and sale of these products from Russia.

Various bi-lateral agreements in process of negotiation were seen as direct threats to many important American export products, including steel, textiles, oil, automobiles, fruits, farm products and farm machinery.

The effect of all these proposed agreements, however, even if they should be made, might not be what the makers intended. It was pointed out also that the governments are not the buyers and the buyers might not respond to the arrangements in many cases.

Market for Stock Seat Stronger

New York, Aug. 4 (AP).—The market for New York Stock Exchange seats is stronger, too. Arrangements were made today for transfer of a membership at $120,000, up $30,000 from the previous sale, made last week. The low for this depression is $85,000, established in May.

Seabury Declares Mayor Walker Not Worthy Of Belief

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—An attack on Mayor James J. Walker's credibility lay on Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's desk today as the case of New York's "Jimmy" pushed to the forefront of gubernatorial problems.

The documentary strife between Walker and Samuel Seabury, counsel to a legislative committee of investigation, reached a new climax when Seabury filed late yesterday 20,000 words calling Walker evasive and "unworthy of belief." It was a reply to Walker's defense against accusations of unfitness, on which the Mayor's removal is sought.

Soon Gov. Roosevelt is expected to make a decision public. He may give Walker a hearing. It also was considered possible he might remove or exonerate him on the basis of documents on file.

Seabury, whose tone had hitherto been coldly legal, uncorbed sharp language. Alluding to the Mayor's contention that 10 of 15 removal counts are outlawed because they refer to a previous administration, Seabury said it was "a sorry sight indeed" to see a public officer contending he must be allowed to continue in office "because he was fortunate enough not to be caught in time."

Seabury contended the record "clearly proves" the Mayor guilty of acts charged. They included accusations that he accepted sums from brokerage houses and individuals; that he carried on hidden financial transactions through the now missing Russell T. Sherwood; that he permitted the designation, in city compensation cases, of doctors who split fees with his brother, Dr. William H. Walker; and that he failed to produce his financial records or testify frankly.

After summing up, Seabury said: "On this record of equivocation, evasion and contradiction, the mayor has demonstrated himself to be unworthy of belief where his official conduct is called into question."

In discussing the Mayor's denial that the missing Sherwood was his financial agent, handling large sums for him, Seabury harked back to the removal of Sheriff Thomas Farley of Manhattan, who was ousted by the Governor after he explained he got large sums from a "wonderful tin box" in his home.

"It will be readily observed," Seabury said, "that whenever expenditures were shown to have been made by Sherwood for the Mayor's benefit, the Mayor's explanation was always the same—cash from the safe."

"This explanation differs from those made by lesser members of the political hierarchy only, as the Mayor was at pains to emphasize, in that it involves: 'Not a vault, not a tin box—A safe in my home.'"

KILLED WHEN HIS ALE-LADEN SEDAN CRASHES INTO TREE

Massena, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—Gilbert Henderson, 29, of 37 Elm street, Glens Falls, was killed this morning when his ale-laden sedan crashed into a tree at Whitaker's Corners, eight miles west of Massena, after a two-mile pursuit by two customs officers.

Special Agent Frank E. Henry, accompanied by several other agents, came here soon afterward to conduct an official investigation.

Newspaper reports said that the pursuing customs men, Horace Woods and Harold Fox, working out of Ogdensburg, did not stop to investigate the crash, but continued until they were ordered to do so by Henderson's following. They arrested Seymour Dishaw, 22, of Massena, after finding what they described as 27 bags of Canadian ale in the automobile.

Customs agents said that Henderson's car contained 25 or 30 bags of ale, and that these were scattered about the scene of the crash. Morris Doris of White Plains and Elliott Feulner of Massena, coming up, removed the still breathing man from the wreckage, but he died before reaching the office of Dr. C. E. Elkins here.

Drivers of the two ale-laden cars, said the customs men, ignored orders to halt, as they sped along the Louisville swamp road.

Counterfeit $10 Bills

Liberty, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—Accused of leaving a trail of counterfeit $10 bills through Sullivan and neighboring counties, Meyer Barsky, 35, and his brother, Irving, 31, of Brooklyn, were arrested here yesterday. Police said they found $1,700 in counterfeit bills in their car. Arrested with them were two women whose names were not revealed. The men were trapped, police said, because their bills were poor imitations.

Neck Broken In Accident

Eliza, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—Her neck broken in an automobile accident last night, Mrs. Robert S. Walker, wife of the coach of freshman athletes and varsity hockey at Colgate University, was in St. Luke's Hospital here today in a serious condition. The coach himself suffered fracture of several ribs. The car skidded and overturned at Pinewoods.

Left Engine Running

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—Waiting for a shower to pass with their automobile engine running in a closed garage was fatal yesterday to Mrs. Francis R. Norris, 29, and her mother, Mrs. Arlona McCartney, 60. Carbon monoxide gas killed them. The younger woman's husband found the bodies.

Wets and Drys Look For Hoover's Speech

To Complete the Evidence Needed For Their 1932 Campaign Plans—Speculation Holds Sway Meanwhile.

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP).—Organized wets and drys look for President Hoover's acceptance speech a week hence to complete the evidence needed for their 1932 campaign plans.

For both, the president's official acceptance to run again largely will conclude the Republican course outlined by the Chicago platform—just as Democratic repeal and modification promises have been elaborated by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. Speculation holds sway meanwhile, with groups on both sides marking time except for field work in scattered congressional primaries.

With first drafts of Mr. Hoover's speech outlined and closely guarded—some contend he will concede his remarks to an acknowledgment of the Republican plan which declares for submission of repeal in a way intended to prevent the return of the saloon and retain federal control of the liquor traffic.

Others hold the president will discuss the issue at length, defining in detail his own views on the prohibition problem.

But from one outstanding prohibition leader today—Dr. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, executive secretary of the prohibition board of strategy—came the remark:

"Some of us don't think it will change the picture much." Dinwiddie did not elaborate this statement, but he already has said he personally will support the president.

"We resent a president active in a move to amend the constitution it is his duty to enforce," Dinwiddie said in an interview.

"The president does not come into the picture at all. A proposed amendment does not even pass through his hands."

"Of course, the Republican platform does not commit the party to repeal as the Democratic platform does. I believe that will give the Democrats trouble in some quarters."

Bishop Curley Of Syracuse Is Dead

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—Bishop Daniel J. Curley of the Syracuse Diocese of the Catholic Church was dead today, victim of heart disease from which he had suffered long.

Bishop Curley, who became head of the large diocese in 1923, was 63. He died last night. A native of New York city, he laid the groundwork for his high office as arch-diocesan secretary in New York city and later as pastor of Our Lady of Solace Church in the Bronx. In the Bronx parish he made a remarkable record.

The Syracuse diocese comprises Onondaga, Oswego, Oneida, Madison, Broome, Chenango and Cortland counties. One of the first acts when Bishop Curley took charge was to lay out new parishes and push the work of extending the influence of the church in these new areas.

He was the third bishop of the diocese, succeeding the venerable Bishop John Grimes, who died in 1920.

Cardinal Hayes and Bishop Curley became life-long friends while students at St. Joseph's Seminary, Troy. The bishop was ordained in 1894 after studying at the American College in Rome.

Before accepting the Syracuse post the bishop had turned down an appointment as auxiliary bishop of the Diocese of New York, tendered by Cardinal Hayes, on the ground that his work in the Bronx had not been completed.

Ex-Dog Warden Held For the Grand Jury

John La Velle Waives Examination And Is Admitted To $3,000 Bail—Charged With Making False Entries.

John La Velle, former dog warden of the town of Saugerties, was arraigned before County Judge Frederick G. Traver sitting as a committing magistrate Wednesday afternoon where he waived examination and was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of forgery. He was admitted to $3,000 bail.

La Velle was arrested Wednesday morning on information of District Attorney Cion B. Murray who has been conducting an investigation for several weeks into the activities of the former dog warden. It is alleged that through forged entries to wards presented the Saugerties dog warden collected large sums from the county treasurer for alleged seizing and killing of stray dogs in the town. In 1931 he collected nearly $5,000.

The specific charge upon which La Velle was arrested is that on May 11 of this year certain false entries were made. A few days after this and when District Attorney Murray began an investigation La Velle resigned his position.

Welfare President Issues Warning to Men Seeking Relief

President of City Public Welfare Board Issues Timely Statement Which Should Be Read By Every Needy Family Seeking Relief From City Authorities.

President Alfred Schmitt of the local Board of Public Welfare made a timely statement today, which should prove of interest not only to the needy families seeking home and work relief but also to the taxpayers of the city. The statement follows:

"Now that the Common Council has appropriated $155,000 to give work to the unemployed it is only natural that merchants and landlords will ask many of these men to make a payment on account for back rent due them or for merchandise they have been trusted with."

"Many of our landlords have been very kind to their tenants whose earnings have been meager and who have been compelled to apply for food orders at the Home Relief office at the city hall. Many now owe for several months back rent and consequently some of these landlords have not yet been able to pay their taxes."

"Our doctors, grocers, butchers, milk dealers and others have been very liberal in trusting and carrying along the families of the unemployed. They too have had their bills to meet and very often could only allow a certain amount of credit to a family. When that credit ceased the family was often forced to ask aid of the city."

"In behalf of the Kingston Welfare Board I want to appeal to those landlords and merchants who have been so generous with these people who have of late been depending on the city for their food orders and other assistance, not to ask them as soon as they receive work on the streets to make a payment on account but to wait until these men receive more steady employment in their own line of work. To make demands on them at this time would cause them undue hardships as I shall try to explain."

"Most of the men now receiving Home Relief who are able to work will receive employment on the streets but must bear in mind that they will be paid $3 a day and will not be employed steadily but will work in shifts. Our Mayor and the Work Relief Bureau will put forth every effort to see that those men with the greatest number of dependents will receive more work than those with smaller families. At best no one will be earning more than to barely cover the weekly needs of his family."

"According to the law the money a person earns by Work Relief must not be spent in payment of any debts of any kind but can only be spent for daily food, current rent (August rent) for medical attention and other necessary daily expenses. If a person uses part of his week's earnings in payment of a debt he will not have sufficient funds left to meet the weekly needs of his family and will then be compelled to ask for further assistance from the Home Relief office which aid would have to be denied him on the grounds that he had spent his Work Relief money in payment of a debt. We Commissioners can make no exceptions with anyone. We must comply with the law if we expect to obtain our 40 per cent reimbursement from the state on all monies spent on Home Relief in Kingston."

"Of the $155,000 appropriated for rebuilding and repairing our city streets at least $25,000 will have to be spent for materials and tools which would leave approximately $130,000 to be paid out in wages. There are in the neighborhood of 2000 unemployed men in our city at the present time. If of this number the Board of Public Works and the Work Relief Bureau had that 1500 are in need and deserving of work, each man would receive on an average about $55. Those with many dependents will of course receive more work and a greater amount and those with small families less."

"The $56 will of course not last the average family very many weeks. A great deal of forethought will have to be exercised by all in the spending of this money as the Common Council cannot be asked for any more appropriations this year for either Home or Work Relief."

"Those receiving work must spend their money only on the most necessary things, no luxuries! Every man applying for work, if he owns a car, should be requested to deposit his license plates with either the Board of Public Works or the Work Relief Bureau while he is receiving work from the city."

"The Welfare Board recently refused to give a food order to anyone who owned a car until he had deposited his license plates at our Home Relief office. There were no exceptions made and today there is not a family who is receiving a food order that we know of or any other assistance from the Welfare Board who is operating their car. Mr. Finger, who is in charge of the local Motor Vehicle Bureau and his staff, cooperated with us to the fullest extent in carrying out our plans and we are very grateful to them for the valuable information given us on so many occasions. The license plates will be restored to their owners as soon as they become self supporting."

"Why should not those applying for work who own automobiles be requested to deposit their license plates with the Board of Public Works or the Work Relief Bureau while they are receiving work from the city?"

"You have given up your car in order to pay their taxes and by pay-

To Register All Men Desiring Employment

Schedule Adopted For Registering Men and Issuing Application Cards—Registration Will Start Friday at Office of Work Relief Bureau in the Municipal Building.

The local emergency work relief bureau has arranged to register all unemployed men desiring employment commencing Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the office of the bureau in the Municipal Building on East Main street. To make the work of registering men easier the bureau has arranged four days of registration, certain days being set aside for the unemployed men in various wards who will only be registered on the day designated.

The work relief committee has released the following official statement which should be carefully read by men seeking work:

The local emergency work relief bureau will be in readiness to register men desiring employment through work relief bureau and board of public works starting Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

In order to make the handling of the applicants easier, a schedule has been adopted for registering the men and issuing application cards to them. The schedule is as follows:

Friday, August 5, 1932—Wards 1, 4, 8, 13.
Saturday, August 6, 1932—Wards 2, 9, 11.
Monday, August 8, 1932—Wards 3, 6.
Tuesday, August 9, 1932—Wards 7, 10, 12.

The registration hours will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the Municipal Building, East O'Reilly street.

The schedule as given will not in any way be altered, so the men are advised not to come to register out of turn.

Upon registering, the men will receive a small card containing a few questions to be answered by the applicant.

At the top of the card there is a statement to the effect that it is a misstatement to give or endorse false information for the purpose of obtaining public funds.

The applicant will be required to obtain two reliable endorsements to the application card. These endorsements may be that of the head of the applicant's church, his grocer, or other trustworthy individual.

The applicant will also be required to sign an affidavit as to his true financial condition.

All information given at the time of registering or investigation is kept in strictest confidence by the Work Bureau. When the applicant has received the endorsements to the card, he will be required to return the card to the Work Bureau at which time his case will be investigated and his name placed on the work cards.

Intends To Sell His Optimism To America

Detroit, Aug. 4 (AP).—Roy D. Chapin, always primarily a salesman and always an optimist, intends to sell his optimism to America in his new position as secretary of commerce.

Chapin, on his return today from Washington, where he accepted President Hoover's appointment yesterday, to succeed Robert P. Lamont, said that there is no doubt that the "depression has run its course" and that "the job now is to unleash the buying power."

Chapin made it plain that he will work toward bringing about an improvement in commodity and general prices which will make business profitable.

There can be little dispute that today there is a general feeling of optimism in the air," he said. "It appears that the upturn has come."

"The President told me that he felt enough power has been given the administration and its subdivisions to bring about a distinct improvement in conditions in this country."

"He asked me to come to Washington and be a part of his organization endeavoring to utilize the facilities that have been placed at his disposal to bring back commodity prices and help raise the price level generally. I feel if that occurs buying will start, confidence will return throughout the land and we will be on the road to better days."

While other pioneers in the automobile industry devoted much attention to mass production, Mr. Chapin always has emphasized the necessity of mass distribution.

Mr. Chapin said he will return to Washington next week, but will await Secretary Lamont's convenience in rejoining him.

ing their taxes they have indirectly done their share in making this $155,000 appropriation possible. Those who receive work should be glad to lay up their car. If they have one, and show their neighbors who are taxpayers and who are now in directly helping to pay their wages, that they appreciate what is being done for them and are glad to do their part. Many of the streets to be repaired are downtown while in the up-town section of the city there will be work for many in rebuilding the Boulevard so that in all probability no one will have any great distance to walk to work."

Our mayor is doing his level best to keep every department from overspending their budget and unless the strictest economies are practiced by all in the spending of the money they receive for Work Relief the $155,000 appropriated for Home Relief will not last the year out."

Approve Moves for Peace but Prepare For War in Chaco

Bolivia and Paraguay gave their approval today to international moves for peaceful settlement of the Chaco controversy but they prepared for war.

Dispatches from Pedro, Argentina, a town on the Bolivian border, quoted a Bolivian commander as saying 11,000 troops would be in the Chaco in the next few days.

Bolivia now has 2,000 men there, he asserted.

In La Paz it was said the government would raise serious objections to several clauses of the note sent by the United States and eighteen South and Central American nations yesterday, in which a warning was given that any territorial gains made by armed force would not be recognized.

Paraguay informed the League of Nations it was willing to arbitrate and Bolivia, in its note to the League, said it "did not decline" offers of a peaceful settlement.

The Chaco itself was reported quiet.

Plans 11,000 Troops.

Pedro, Argentina, Aug. 4 (AP).—Bolivia plans to have 11,000 troops in the Chaco region in a few days, said Bolivian General Mariaca Pando, today when he arrived at Yacubita, near the border town.

There are now 6,000 well-trained men in the trouble area, he added, as he passed 160 trucks filled with equipment and materials on their way to the "war" zone.

Bolivian military officials denied that airplanes had bombed the foreign Mennonite colony in the Chaco and the scaffold at Paraguayan reports that Bolivian troops were deserting and crossing the borders.

A troop movement was observed six hours, they said, when a bridge between Villazon and Villamontes was burned by incendiaries. Engineers repaired it, and posted guards with machine guns there.

Chapin Named to Commerce Post

Businessman Will Succeed E. P. Lamont, Whose Resignation President Accepted With Regret.

KINGSTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Roy Chapin, Captain of Detroit, a business executive, has been named to succeed E. P. Lamont, whose resignation President Hoover accepted with regret, and because he felt the cabinet member ought to be allowed to go to rest for himself again.

When the Hudson Motor Car company takes over the helm of the business, Chapin will find himself in a position to do so much more than ever before, as he will find allies who have much the same optimistic opinion—as they had recently—and who are ready to go with any sales campaign he proposes.

The commerce cabinet post, however, some of its present prominent standing before August 21, 1932, when Herbert Hoover resigned as secretary to run for President. The department was organized in 1903 to include labor activities, which were taken away for a new branch in 1913.

Since then it has spread out until the commerce department now has 45,000 employees. Half are in Washington, half in the "field," where the well-known or scarcely ever heard of countries which buy things. Mr. Hoover said Lamont recently had occupied his post "at great sacrifice" and that "his abilities and service have commanded the respect and confidence of the entire country." Chapin's appointment he announced with "pleasure."

Exactly what Lamont, a Chicagoan, intends to do was not announced. He was out of town when the President accepted his resignation.

Siege of Non-Union Mine Lifted as 820 Guardsmen Arrive

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 4.—The siege of the Dixie coal mine was raised by the arrival of 820 guardsmen from the state of Indiana today, and 45 armed miners were free.

A union picket line whose striking had the 65 non-union men prisoners for two days, faded into the night as 15 national guardsmen, bearing arms, marched to the mine.

Four wounded miners without special attention since Tuesday afternoon, when they fought a pitched battle in which one miner was killed and four were injured, were brought to a Terre Haute hospital.

The picket line, its strength variously estimated at from 500 to 1,000 men, departed as a detachment of 150 guardsmen rushed to the mine to attempt to remove the injured men of the workmen was struck by tear bullets.

The non-union workmen said they believed arrival of an Indiana Guard platoon late yesterday saved their lives. Pickets appeared to be preparing to rush the mine, they said, when the first plane swooped over the battle line.

The planes were the advance guard of the infantry companies ordered here by Governor Harry G. Leslie after repeated urgent requests from Sheriff Joe Dreher, whose force of deputies was helpless to combat the well-armed picket line.

After an order to both the picket positions with tear gas was counter-manned soon after it was issued last night, the picket maintained control of the area. This surveillance, the beleaguered miners believed, covered the pickets and ended the bloodiest fight in recent Indiana mine labor disputes.

Not a picket was to be found when the 250 guardsmen arrived at the mine this morning. They searched surrounding thickets for any lurking snipers, then took positions protecting the mine property.

The wounded brought to Terre Haute were Gerald Grady, 26, Sullivan, shot twice in the right leg and twice in the right hand; John Fullerton, 31, Terre Haute, bullet wound in the right side; Elmer Bedwell, 26, Sullivan, shot in the left arm; and Glenn Brownman, 31, Terre Haute, who was struck in the right leg.

In Other Words, "Alleged" One of the boundary marks on an old-time Connecticut farm, as shown by a land paper, is described as: "The tree at which Bill Jones is said to have killed the bear."

News of Today In Kingston

We don't carry any of the spirit of the Olympic games here, we the whole nation is throbbing with the crowds of 50,000 people that pass the stadium each day. The crowds are thrilled through and through by the success of the U. S. athletes.

Today, the class that from Minneapolis set a new record in the 100 meters yesterday by doing it in 11.2 seconds. This is the second championship of the Olympic games. The winner was in the 100 meters.

One can easily imagine the joy of these thousands of Americans when the athletes of Uncle Sam reach the top first, or when somebody jumps, jumps, or throws, as Anderson did yesterday with the discus. He broke the record with a throw of 161 feet, 47 inches.

On the other hand spectators from other nations aren't getting much of a break for their travel. They look on and might as well join in the cheering section of the Americans for if they don't their voice might leave them from lack of use.

Will U. S. clean up again today? "The Blonde Captive" the picture now playing at the Broadway Theatre is a truly amazing adventure of the wilds of Australia. One would find it hard to imagine just what does exist on mother earth. This picture helps you clear up some of the doubt in your mind.

It seems impossible to believe that there are men living today of the same species of those who lived thousands of years ago. Yet there are! This expedition found them and Lowell Thomas was with this expedition. He explains everything by talking throughout the picture.

It was said not long ago, and the news came from an official source, that Mr. Huling was going to develop a little playland out of his already first class miniature golf course.

Since golf has been driving out Mr. Huling has been turning his interests in other directions. He plans to build a swimming pool, a good sized one, to accommodate a good number of swimmers. That's one brilliant item.

Then he plans turning one of the buildings on the grounds into a dancing hall and on the side of this building, erect a large platform where refreshments and light lunches will be served. The only thing that worries Mr. Huling is, does the public want this sort of thing.

He can be assured from some quarters that the public does want something like this. Kingston has been stripped of all its summer amusement, balls and restaurants, so something like this ought to go like a house of fire.

He also plans to do away with the miniature golf course next year if he carries out the plans mentioned above. The course will be transformed into a park where picnics can be held. The past year has shown golf to be a poor drawing card so valuable ground is going to be turned into value.

Measure of Success: The man who attains the greatest success is usually the man who has the sincerest love for his work—Fred Sweet.

TALES OF THE CHIEFS

Editha L. Watson

BLACK HAWK

Black Hawk. Keokuk, the ally of the white man, was the one who saved him from the fate of the other chiefs.

When in 1832 the best and bravest of the Sauk and Foxes signed the treaty surrendering all their lands on the Mississippi river to the white man, it was not because they were giving up this part of the country. This was because they were allowed to remain there until after the War of 1812.

Keokuk, the ally of the white man, was the one who saved him from the fate of the other chiefs. He and his people were forewarned of this move, and before the militia had reached his village, it was deserted. The empty lodges were burned as a token of the white man's displeasure, and a fortnight afterward, at a conference, Black Hawk signed an agreement to keep the peace, and to join his people on the other side of the Mississippi.

This was in June. The next winter was spent in negotiations with tribes in every direction. Black Hawk had signed the peace treaty because he must. Now he was trying to start war if he could, and because he did not understand the white man's ways, he felt himself justified in his conduct.

Spring came, and the Sauk chief began his campaign. Had the whites remained in ignorance of his movements a few weeks longer, so that he could have recruited more men from the other tribes, perhaps the story of the Black Hawk war would have been different, but four days after he crossed the river into the eastern territory, again, he was discovered. The soldiers were warned, and troops were mustered to pursue him.

The militia which assumed this duty was not the sort of troops to send against a man like Black Hawk. He routed them in an engagement on May 14, 1832, and then turned his attention to the settlements along the frontier, killing and burning, while the soldiers were almost powerless to do anything against the formidable band. It was not until July that the Sauk suffered any great loss, but volunteers under Gen. James D. Henry overtook him on the 21st of that month, and defeated him, with a loss of 65 warriors. This was the turn of fortune for the great Sauk leader. He retreated, but was overtaken by the troops, who again attacked him so determinedly that 40 of his men were captured, and 150 driven into the river. Those who crossed were cut off by the Sioux, who were their enemies, and the insurrection was definitely put down.

Black Hawk escaped to the north, but the Winnebago, whom he had endeavored to enlist in the cause, followed and captured him, and he was made a prisoner of the United States.

He was held for more than a month at Fortress Monroe, Virginia, and then was taken on a tour of the eastern cities, where people crowded to see the fallen warrior. The United States Literary Gazette of Philadelphia, wrote him up in enthusiastic style: "Black Hawk was sitting in a chair, and apparently depressed in spirits. He is about sixty-five, of middling size, with a head that would excite the envy of a phrenologist—one of the finest that Heaven ever let fall on the shoulder of an Indian."

In 1837 Black Hawk, with Keokuk, again went east, and on his return he settled near Iowa, and died there on October 3 of the next year.

The valiant Sauk was not allowed to rest in quiet. His body was stolen, and the bones prepared for articulation. Perhaps the skeletons would have been displayed to the curious as the living man had been, but the governor of the territory protested, and the bones were restored to Iowa. They were placed among the collections of the Burlington Historical society, where they remained until 1933, when the building containing them was burned.

In an old account of Black Hawk's life, we find the following lines by Fremont quoted: "What could thus disturb the peaceful dead? Remembrance pointing to what last he said: Prepare the hollow tomb, and place the low. My trusty bow and arrows by my side: For long the journey is that I must go. Without a partner and without a guide."

(E. 1912, Western Newspaper Union.)

Positive Comment: "None say you expect to go to heaven," said the earnest friend.

"Of course," answered Senator Seymour. "You deserve to be serene and happy at last."

"For it will be hard to shake off the habit of a busy life. I'm not sure there won't be more interesting material for investigation in the other place."

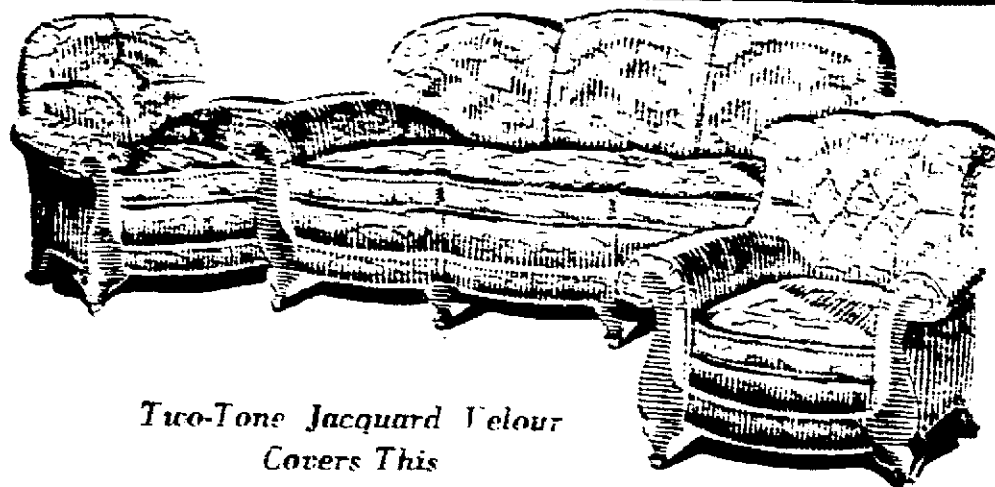

The Power Beyond: Strange creature that man is! He never is himself until he is carried out of himself by something higher than he to which he gives himself. Take out of the human vocabulary words like reverence, appreciation, adoration, and man's characteristic quality is gone.

We're tired of the heat of this and the heat of that, but the heat of politeness, we think is the following: a man carrying a high tension electric wire, near Huntington, N. Y.

Kindly keep your hands off this wire. It carries 20,000 volts. Thank You.

If he leaves your party and goes to the other political side he is a traitor. But if he leaves the other party and comes to your side he is a patriot.

Judge: I could send you to prison for this.

Thief: If you do, send me to Sing Sing. I haven't seen my two brothers for five years.

Our idea of a racket that should be stopped is that of the girl next door who thinks she is singing.

Professor: What do you think of the Little Theatre Movement?

Mrs. Newrich: I'm for it. The sooner it moves, the better.

It is easy to convince those who get caught that "honesty is the best policy."

First Yegg—I need glasses.

Second Yegg—What makes you think so?

First Yegg—Well, I was twirling the knob of a safe last night and a dance orchestra began to play.

The Laughing Hyena only sleeps once a month and only drinks once a year. Tell us what he's got to laugh about?

Barber—Your head is sadly in need of a shampoo, sir.

Painter—Yes, and your house needs painting, but I don't nag you about it.

Lawyers in the court house have a way of calling each other everything they can think of, and then walking out arm in arm to lunch together. Men sometimes become wiser as they grow older, but they seldom grow less foolish. A hick town is a place where central can tell you whether it's a boy or a girl.

Englishman (proudly)—The sun never sets on the British Empire.

American Girl—How unfortunate. At home we have such lovely sunsets.

Professor—There are two periods in his life, madam, when a man doesn't understand women.

The Madam—Indeed! And when are they?

Professor—Before and after marriage.

The world grows older, and the only things we learn are new ways of making the same old mistakes.

Wife (during quarrel)—You're becoming absolutely unbearable. It will soon be impossible to live with you.

Husband (hopefully)—How soon?

Dentist—Where is that aching tooth?

Theatre Usber—Balcony first row to the right.

Even when a man proves he is woman's superior she doesn't believe it.

PUFFY

She Says: "I Am Slender"

Men Say: "A Bag of Bones"

Men like to hold a softly rounded form—not a skeleton.

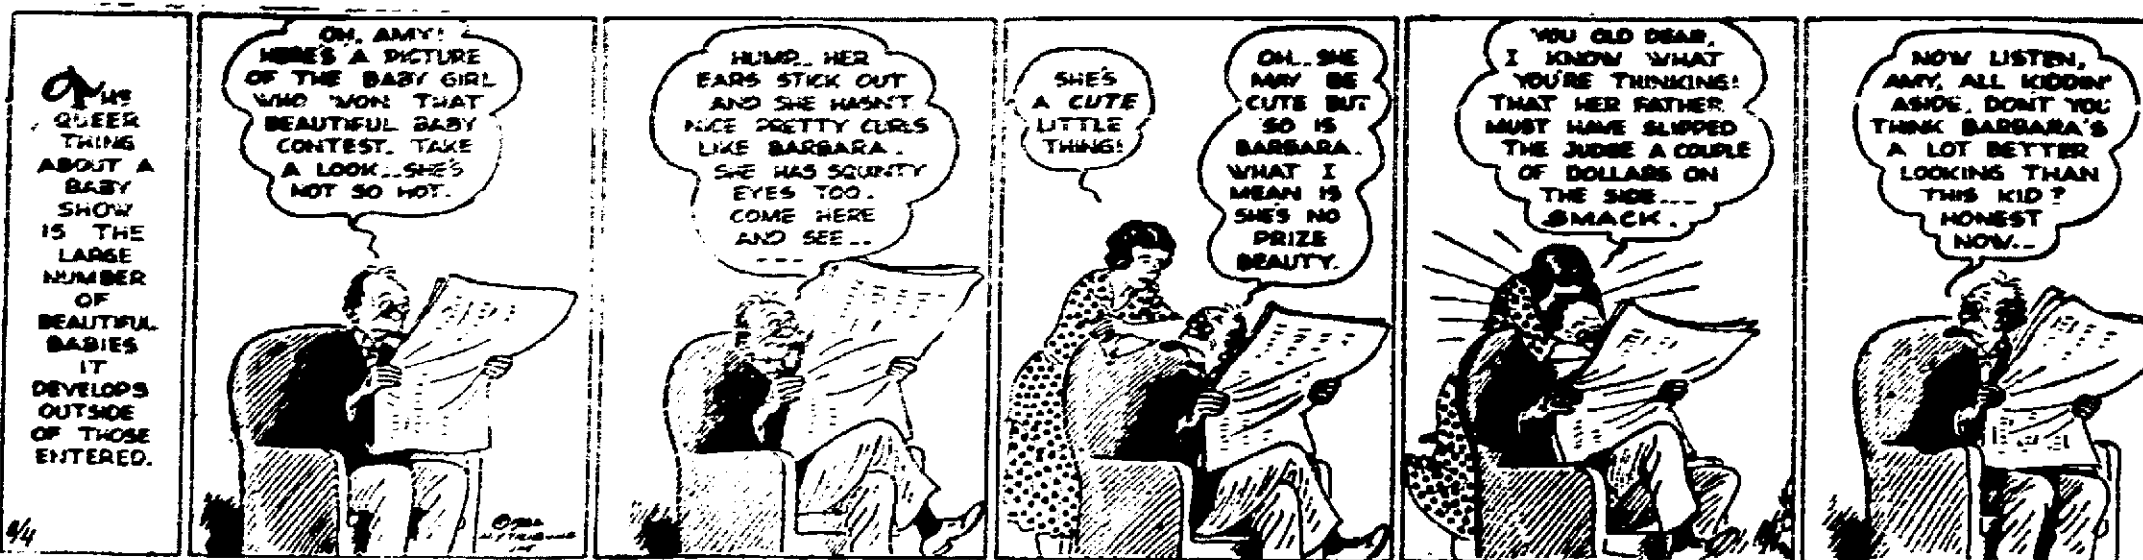

If she only knew it, she could quickly rid those bones with adorable flesh and have the feminine figure men admire.

One skinny girl did it—gained 14 pounds in 12 weeks! Just by taking a tablespoonful of mentha pepin with her meals. (It acts like gastric juice to draw out the food of what you eat, so you don't have to stuff on heavy foods you don't like, or take laxatives.) Cost her only $1.00 for a big bottle of mentha pepin. Now she's got such a lovely form, all the men are coming after her.

Do come to see how she made pepin by asking for Dura's, Maben & Walker. It's a guarantee of money back if even one bottle doesn't help.

"Puffy's a pun, and don't forget that. Just watch him," says Bummy. "While chasing his hat."

GAS BUGGIES—Prejudiced? Of Course Not.

Strange Relationship

It seems like a long way from the morning glory to the sweet potato, yet these two plants are related. They both belong to the family of plants known as the convolvulus, to which also belong the bane of all farmers, the bindweed. The wild morning glory is far harder than the cultivated types and stays in bloom longer. It even blooms at night when the moon is bright and is much favored by moths when open at night.

The wild type is sometimes called hedge-bindweed and also ladies' night cap. It is found as far south as North Carolina and as far west as Nebraska. Its blooming period lasts from June to August.

Soap Manufacture

The manufacture of all types of soaps in this country amounts yearly to $325,000,000 worth of goods and there are 2,100 manufacturing organizations in this field. English Church Laws

There is an ecclesiastical court in England to which are submitted all matters pertaining to church law, also matters in which the church might be either a plaintiff or defendant. This court also regulates the issuance of marriage licenses and other matters of church discipline. Actually the ecclesiastical law of England is dependent upon the authority of the state, and ecclesiastical courts for the most part are offered by laymen, whose subordination to archbishops and bishops is purely formal. The final court of appeal on ecclesiastical matters is the judicial committee of the privy council of the nation.

Barefoot Men With—

In This Case Perhaps It's Blistered Feet—But Fullerton, Neb., Club Enforces Rule, Hot Sidewalks, Or No.

When Fullerton, Neb., men organized a barefoot booster club, they meant business. Wearing of shoes is permitted in the office but not on the street. At left Allen B. Atkins, county treasurer, shows he likes the fed. At right G. D. Griffin enforces a "kangaroo court" penalty on a traveling salesman who wore shoes. The women organized a "pinetore club" as an auxiliary.

Fullerton, Neb. (AP)—A fed for "booster" clubs has swept through Nebraska towns this summer—whisker clubs, big hat clubs, purple shirt and red necktie clubs—

But Fullerton, to be different, organized a barefoot club.

And the business men of this town of 2,700 population have taken it seriously, though hot sidewalks blister the feet.

About 200 of the town's merchants joined the club and pledged themselves to go barefooted until Nance county's homecoming celebration.

Allowance was made, however, for members with tender feet—they were permitted to wear soles bound to bare feet.

Rules permit shoes to be worn in places of business, but when a member appears on the street with shoes on he's taken before a "kangaroo court" by a "constable."

Even traveling men reaching Fullerton have been taken into "court" and fined, or required to remove their shoes.

Not to be outdone by the men, Fullerton women organized an "auxiliary"—a "pinetore" club whose members are required to wear pinetores and hair ribbons.

Licenses Revoked And Suspended

Five hundred and twenty-five certificates of automobile registration and licenses to drive were revoked, or suspended, by the commissioner of motor vehicles during the two weeks ended July 31. Of these cases 217 will require proof of financial responsibility before applications for new licenses will be considered. There were 51 revocations and 390 suspensions in New York city and vicinity, and 73 revocations and 111 suspensions in other parts of the state.

In the Albany district there were 30 revocations and 25 suspensions. Four of the suspensions were for failure to file omnibus bonds, the names of those involved not being published.

The action of the commissioner affected drivers residing in this vicinity as follows:

Revocation

Oscar Beamer, R. F. D., Kingston, driving while intoxicated.

Suspensions

Vincent Van Bramer, 56 East Strand, Kingston, for failure to give proof of financial responsibility.

Estate of Joseph Remy, Wallkill, license irregularly issued.

George Goldfarb, 144 Washington avenue, Kingston, unlicensed operator.

TELLS HOW TO MAKE HENS LAY IN SUMMER.

Ithaca, N. Y.—If the poultry flock lays few eggs in late summer, feed a wet mash, advises L. M. Hurd, of the State College of Agriculture. When swim milk is available, use it to wet the regular mash, or use semi-solid buttermilk at the rate of two pounds to the hundred. The crumbly wet mash may be fed late in the afternoon, just before the night grain feeding. The hens should have only what they can eat in twenty minutes.

Another plan is useful when no milk is available. Fill a pan one-half full of dry oats and then fill to the top with water. Let the oats stand from one afternoon to the next and add enough of the regular dry mash to absorb the remaining moisture. Feed the same amount and at the same time as the milk mash.

Wet mash feeding usually begins in late July or August. Mr. Hurd suggests: No change in quarters or in feed formula; provide an abundance of tender green food; have fresh water at all times; furnish shade; and do not allow red mites to attack the flock. He also suggests adding two pounds of tobacco dust to each one-hundred pounds of mash to aid in controlling worms and coccidiosis, which are thought to contribute to paralysis. The tobacco dust should be guaranteed to contain one per cent nicotine sulphate.

Better Price Tone Reported This Year

New York, Aug. 4 (P).—Students of business and trade trends recently have received considerable encouragement from the fact that the general level of commodity values, for the first time since 1929, have been showing a normal seasonal advance.

Surveys now indicate that commodity price levels, if they are maintained, will finish the summer with the regular seasonal gain.

The better price tone this year is said to have started in the oil industry. Other basic commodities which followed, more or less timidly, were sugar, wheat, hogs and some other foodstuffs. A few of the metals, principally lead, indicated a degree of stabilization and hides, rubber and cotton participated moderately.

In addition to oil, the rise in hog prices has done much to bring some light in the commodity darkness.

Rain Welcome In Farming Sections

A steady drizzle of rain fell throughout Wednesday and on into the night giving relief to farming sections which were beginning to suffer from a prolonged drought. For some time farmers in the locality have been in need of a soaking rain. In some sections heavy showers have given relief during the past couple of weeks but crops were beginning to suffer from lack of rain. Sufficient rain fell Wednesday to give relief to parched vegetation and to assist crops. The weather bureau at Albany reports 1.22 inches of rain on Tuesday and Wednesday.

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs. of Fat

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds. I was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides. "Now I am about 170 pounds. I feel younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say. "I shall never be without Kruschen Salts. I will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that it is in it. Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New York, N. Y. "You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough. "A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks cost but a few cents. "When reducing attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. "To take off fat harmlessly and safely, take one half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce. "But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at McElrath Drug Store or any drug store in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back."

PILES

Ended Without Cutting or Salves

If you think a surgical operation is the only way to get rid of itching, bleeding or protruding Piles, it's because you haven't heard of the harmless internal medicine discovered by a prominent western physician. After years of study, Dr. J. S. Leonard found the cause of Piles to be internal congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins which swell and bleed. The parts almost dead. Night after night the doctor set to work to find a real internal remedy. He succeeded, with success in over 500 cases, he named his prescription HEM-ROID. The doctor wants every Pile sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so there will be no doubting or delay McElrath Drug Store and druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end Piles in any form. So why waste time on external treatments or think of an operation when HEM-ROID tablets are guaranteed.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—An arrangement has been made between the Buffalo and Niagara waterway transportation leaders and the St. Lawrence waterway project. The Buffalo and Niagara waterway transportation leaders are opposed to the St. Lawrence waterway project.

The Buffalo and Niagara waterway transportation leaders are opposed to the St. Lawrence waterway project. The Buffalo and Niagara waterway transportation leaders are opposed to the St. Lawrence waterway project.

For more than 100 years, since Chabert de Joncaire established a settlement of friendly Indians to drag the cumbersome French boats through the Niagara river narrow, the water of the Great Lakes has been the veritable life stream of the city.

Just a little more than a century ago, it was the building of the harbor which was largely instrumental in winning incorporation for the city. In 1925, the opening of the Erie Canal marked a fresh chapter in the city's growth.

Water transportation brought in turn a natural convenience of railroads, a network of highways and a focal point for airways. Now comes the St. Lawrence waterway, perhaps the greatest water transportation project of modern history, and the dominant shipping and industrial interests of the city turn a deaf ear to its claims.

The committee is expected to meet again in about ten days. Its survey will answer six outstanding questions: the answers will be made public, and on them will depend to a large extent the future policy of the chamber of commerce. Here are the questions, as outlined by Samuel H. Botsford, executive vice president:

1—"Will increased volume of traffic, 10 or 15 years hence, be sufficient to justify construction of this additional waterway at such a cost?" 2—"Since the taxpayers must pay for the waterway will the tolls thereon make a return sufficient not only to pay for maintenance and operation but also to provide interest and debt service?" 3—"Freight rates and cost of production of electricity quoted by promoters of the project apparently are ten years old. Is the project justified in view of prevailing rates during the past ten years?" 4—"Assuming that the entire project is completed as planned, will it be more economical for ocean vessels to enter the Great Lake ports, or for lake boats to go down river to Montreal, Quebec harbor, or points beyond?" 5—"Canada having insisted on a 27-foot depth, which means a 30-foot channel for the project, how much will it cost to deepen the inner harbors and channels of all the Great Lake ports, most of which are located on the American side? It should be remembered here that the greater portion of these costs will become a charge against the locality in which the port is located and the owners of adjacent property."

6—"Assuming the principal reason for United States participation is to furnish a cheap outlet for the production of grain, is it a fact that the production of cheap foodstuffs in new territories, where land and labor are cheap, will ultimately result in bringing foodstuffs from other parts of the world into, rather than out of, the Great Lakes region?"

For a seventh problem, the future alone holds the solution, but according to Mr. Botsford, it has engendered a real fear in Buffalo. "For over 100 years," he said, "Buffalo has pointed with pride to its location on a peaceful international boundary. The Niagara frontier is the greatest point of international exchange of commodities in the world. There is a great fear in Buffalo that the final effect of a partnership in this billion dollar enterprise might be a serious disagreement between Canada and the United States. In the event that the Great Lakes cities attempted to ship foodstuffs or materials of war to any nation with which Great Britain was at war."

There are many other words of ancient lineage used every day. Mill is a word that, after countless centuries of use, is still going as strongly as ever. Beef, market, dome, car, day, night, queen, sit and stand—all these have pedigrees so long that they go back thousands of years beyond the oldest of the pyramids—London Times.

Ride in writing will be received at the Kingston City Library until 12 o'clock Noon, Daylight Saving Time, Monday, August 15, 1932, for furnishing and installing a furnace in accordance with specifications now available at the Library. JANET E. FOWLER, Secretary of the Library Association.

OLD THOUGHTS

There is nothing so common as the way the things are done.

These patterns and lotteries are the three great masters of the world.

If power to do hard work is not talent, it is the best possible substitute for it.

Edwin Markham—No man ever thinks a job is too big for him.

Charles M. Schwab—There is just one remedy for the depression and that is sweat.

Joseph Chillum—In the United States there are too many bankers and too few statesmen.

Owen D. Young—Industry is primarily and for all time interested in keeping wages high rather than reducing them, for it is through high wages that a high buying power is attained.

Irving Bacheller—It would seem that we have misplaced the human intelligence when it is so out of business while prize fighters, ball players and demonstrators of illicit love can make a fortune in a year.

THE PERFECT CAVALIER

He eats salad.

He does not wear his hat at all.

He does not walk off with all the matches.

He has never seen any of the plays you haven't.

He knows that flowers or the house are more desirable than corsages.

He never has a hard day ahead of him at the office on the morrow.

He is never in town "just for the night" and therefore without evening clothes.

He doesn't subscribe to the fallacy that there is a double standard in manhandling.

He always has plenty of dollar bills, so that he does not have to touch you temporarily for the taxi fare.

He has heard of Edna St. Vincent Millay, Feluga caviar, Manet, rose point, the "Rhapsody in Blue," Mrs. James Corrigan, the shorter catechism and the burning of the Paris opera house.—Kansas City Times.

FROM THE APOCRYPHA

It is better to give alms than to lay up gold.

Help the poor for the commandment's sake, and turn him not away because of his poverty.

Help thy neighbor according to thy power, and beware that thou thyself fall not into the same.

Do good to the godly man, and thou shalt find a recompense; and if not from him, yet from the most High.

He that requiteth good turns is mindful of that which may come hereafter; and when he falleth, he findeth a stay.

If thou hast abundance, give alms accordingly: if thou have but a little, be not afraid to give according to that little: for thou layest up a good treasure for thyself against the day of necessity.

Ostrich Again Is in Style Picture

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

OSTRICH is the latest news in the world of fashion. Unless signs tell us we are standing at the threshold of an era of ostrich such as has not been for years. We are going to trim our evening frocks with lots of ostrich and adorn our hats with ostrich feathers. French milliners are even now making little turbans of flat ostrich and we are going to wear ostrich feather boas. Fashion reports as to the costumes worn by smart Parisiennes at the recent races make frequent mention of handsome ostrich accessories and the latest couturier collections confirm a coming revival of its vogue.

The treatments in ostrich are varied. A much featured fashion is that of the little shoulder cape which is bordered in ostrich. The standing figure to the right in the picture is wearing a costume which typifies this new movement. The idea is to harmonize the color of the ostrich so that it will blend into the picture and it has been found that either light beige or gray ostrich does so most pleasingly.

Perhaps one of the most beguiling effects achieved with ostrich is the all-white costume, either of crepe or one of the beloved triple sheer weaves, the little shoulder cape or jacket of which is banded with white ostrich. If a jacket, instead of a cape, then the ostrich borders the sleeves, appearing nowhere else on the dress. These white ostrich-trimmed white costumes are among the prettiest and most flattering fashions of the hour. The effect is likewise enchanting when the ostrich banding and the dress it trims is done in a monochrome pastel.

As to ostrich neckpieces there is no limit as to the ideas advanced. In regard to length it is entirely a matter of choice as to whether the boa one wears be long or short. In the shorter effects, interest centers about the new ostrich lei which is slipped over the head about the shoulders like a Hawaiian wreath. The idea appeals in that it does away with a sometimes bothersome ribbon or snap fastening. The little picture in the oval at the top presents this new and destined-to-be-popular type.

In the way of accessories, "sets" are shown in advance displays which include a dainty neckpiece together with an opera or dance bag in lovely coloring to match the frock. Milliners are especially looking forward to a revival of ostrich, not so much in the way of towering plumage, however, but in subtle little novelties and restrained treatments.

The list of ostrich novelties which are and will be adorning our chapeaux continues with flat circular willowed and knotted ornaments. There are also coardes of glycerined ostrich in three colors and there is even talk of ostrich tips coming into fashion. (© 1932, Western Newspaper Union.)

Playing the hostess is one of the arts in which Ostrich Strives for proficiency. Here are four giving themselves a mock party, so that they may learn how one provides gracefully at a tea-table.

HOW MR. HESLEY SURPRISED ALL, INCLUDING HIMSELF

West Shokan, Aug. 4.—Lauren Hesley sprung a complete surprise on everyone Monday when the word came that he had been operated on at the Kingston Hospital, following an attack of acute appendicitis. Mr. Hesley, who is the well known driver of William Colange's truck, left Monday morning for Kingston as usual for supplies. He had been taken ill during the night but diagnosed his case as an upset stomach. After leaving his condition grew worse and upon reaching Kingston he went at once to Dr. Johnston's office for an examination. He pronounced the case acute appendicitis, and advised an immediate operation. After making arrangements with his uncle, Lauren Boice, for the lodging of the truck and driving it home, he entered the hospital at 11:30 and at 12:10 was on the operating table. Luckily the appendix had not ruptured and his condition is reported as favorable as can be expected. Lauren's friends are many and all are wishing him worlds of good luck and a speedy recovery.

Back in the fall of 1908, Charles Hesley, his father, was taken similarly ill during the night and as was commonly the case in those days a hurried call was made for Dr. William Kemble of Kingston, after consulting Dr. DuMond or Dr. Bloom. The operation was performed at his home the following afternoon, but not before the appendix had ruptured and his condition had become most critical. For some time he was under the care of a nurse and recovered, but never since has he been as rugged as before the operation, although he has accomplished countless days of hard work through the ensuing years and underwent another very serious operation under the skilled hand of Dr. Kemble.

Viewed Own Monument
Joseph Hardin, the composer, wrote some of the finest music ever known. During his latter years he was the idol of Vienna, and it took him considerably that social obligations took so much of his time. One day he returned to his birthplace, the little village of Rohrau, in Lower Austria, unconscious of the fact that news of his fame and fortune had preceded him. So imagine his surprise when, after greeting his kinsfolk, he was escorted to the village cemetery and shown his own monument which Count Harrach, a landed gentleman, had erected.

Important Meeting Of All Ex-Soldiers

Joseph Harbord, local chairman of the Purple Heart celebration to be held under the auspices of the Elmer County American Legion in this city on September 7, said that representatives of all combat units of the A. E. F. meet with him tonight at 8 o'clock in the American Legion Memorial Building. The purpose of the meeting is to obtain a list of former members of the A. E. F. who were wounded in action or who hold citations for conspicuous service signed by General John J. Pershing.

There are about 35 applications have been filed by Kingston veterans. Mr. Harbord knows that a considerably greater number of Kingston men are entitled to this gold medal of military merit which the United States government is ready to give to those eligible to receive it. The local committee asks all veterans entitled to this award and who have not filed applications to call and meet Mr. Harbord tonight. Buddies, relatives and friends of men who should apply but who are too modest to step forward, are asked also to call at the American Legion Building tonight. The time limit for making application is rapidly approaching and the applications must be sent in to Washington without further delay.

The committee wishes to emphasize that this celebration, at which General James G. Harbord, former chief-of-staff of the A. E. F., will present the medals to the wounded and cited veterans, is open not only to members of the American Legion, but to all ex-servicemen. The Legion officials ask the cooperation of all World War veterans in this celebration to publicly honor the heroes of the days of 1917-18, men who shed their blood and performed conspicuous military service for the flag.

U. S. Stars Smash Records And Lead in Olympic Events

By ALAN GORDON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Los Angeles, Aug. 4 (AP). They have been waiting a long while for the Olympics to go, to watch the old day so brightly but today their American can go to the last night, with the star spangled banner draped all over the Olympic arena and the band waxes.

With the big show only half completed the United States already had dominated the greatest outbreak of Olympic record-smashing of all time, topped off with nine of the 16 track and field events for men and women, including the much-anticipated sprint final, and rolled up a staggering margin on points.

Talk about picking their spots! After politely watching the flags of Ireland, Poland, Britain and Canada were victoriously in the breeze, the Americans, with a starting rush, yesterday swept all four of the men's track and field finals conducted in the stadium. A crowd estimated at nearly 55,000, the greatest in track history, went wild.

Tolan Gives Thrill.
The record turnout sent the total attendance for four days beyond 225,000 for the stadium alone. The crowd saw bespectacled Little Eddie Tolan, American negro, lead a sweep of the 200 meters final, to become the first double Olympic sprint champion the United States has had in 20 years.

They thrilled as sandy-haired Bill Miller of San Diego, a product of Stanford University, outvaulted the sensational Japanese boy, Shuhei Nishida, in the first 14 foot duel in Olympic history. The American boy finally won at 14 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

They roared again as three Yankee lumberjacks, led to the tape by George Salting of Iowa, swept the final of the spectacular 110 meter high hurdles race.

They volleyed cheers for their favorite feminine star, "Babe" Didrikson of Texas, who broke her second world record in as many events by racing over the 80 meter high hurdles in the stunning time of 11.8 seconds, to lead three American girl qualifiers for today's final.

Finally, to saturate this homebred "field day," the crowd watched two husky Americans six times excel the Olympic discus tossing record. Handsome John Anderson, former Cornell University star, finally beat Henri Laborde of Stanford with a heave of 162 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

Of the total of twelve flags that fluttered in honor of the Olympic medalists in these four events, ten were the American emblem.

Britisher Wins Walk
Far from the stadium's tumult and shouting, Great Britain's same and gallant pedestrian, Thomas William Green, hoofed his way to victory in the 50,000 meter walk.

He had to wait until today, however, to step up on the Olympic pedestal and hear "God save the King" played in honor of his achievement.

Today, too, Finland and Japan may take their turn in the spotlight, with favorites in the javelin and triple jump, while Americans have their eyes focused on the chances of "Pete" Hallowell, Glenn Cunningham and Frank Crowley in the classic 1500 meter final, feature of this afternoon's program.

Meanwhile, for the next four years, the United States can bask in the outstanding achievement of its "Star Spangled Day"—the triumph of Tolan.

Tolan's Rise
The dramatic story of the little negro's rise to the world sprinting heights overshadowed the record breaking chapters that have made these Olympic games the dizziest whirl of all time.

Tolan couldn't make the American team four years ago. Like many another youth, he was hard pressed for funds this year and needed the aid of a friend to get to California by automobile for the final American tryouts. At Palo Alto, Tolan twice trailed the great Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette to the tape in the combined race for places on the American team as well as National Championships.

The experts thought Metcalfe won from Tolan Monday in the 100 meter Olympic final and it took the official motion pictures to convince them that Tolan was victorious by the shadowy margin of two inches in world record time.

They said Metcalfe would run away from Little Eddie in the 200, because he is bigger and stronger, but Tolan came back to win hands down. He beat George Simpson, the third American sprint ace, by a good two yards in the Olympic record time of 21.2 seconds, while Metcalfe came in third, handicapped by a poor start and ragged work on the turn.

Two Olympic championships and two Olympic records ought to be enough to prove the greatness of Tolan's come-back. He maintains, too, one of the most unique traditions of American track history. He is the third American sprinter to take the Olympic double crown. Archie Hahn in 1904 and Ralph Craig in 1912 being the others. All three came from the University of Michigan.

Graber Disappointment
If there was any disappointment for the huge crowd in the stadium it was the failure of the Southern California favorite, Bill Graber, to come through in the pole vault. Graber had hoisted himself to the world record height of 14 feet, 4 1/2 inches in the final tryouts. He did no better than 13 feet 7 1/2 inches yesterday and finished fourth, beaten by his team mate, George Jefferson, as well as by Miller and Nishida, both of whom did better than ever before.

Salting's triumph in the 110 meter hurdles was not surprising, in view of his world record equalling performance of 14.4 in the semi-finals. The Iowa, however, came on to win the final in 14.6 mainly on the perfection of his form, after his rival American, Perry Bevel, tripped over the next to the last hurdle and lost Germany a good lead. The third American in Japan sweep, first in the high hurdles, Poland

City League Game Tonight

The Forst Butchers and the Northern Neckwear are scheduled to meet in a City League game at the Athletic Field this evening. The last game between these two teams ended in a 3-3 tie after the Butchers trailed the Cravats for the biggest part of the game. Jim Voelker probably will receive the assignment to pitch for the Butchers with Robins the receiver. Gus Weidemann is slated to do the hurling for the Cravats with Messenger on the receiving end. The game scheduled for the Schryvers and the Knights of Columbus Wednesday evening was washed out by the rain.

Wrestling Last Night

(By The Associated Press)
Toronto—Charley Strack, Boston, defeated Joe Maliewicz, Utica, N. Y., two out of three falls (Strack first, 19:01, and third, 4:32; Maliewicz second, 0:11).

Yesterday's STARS

(By The Associated Press)
Vic Sorrell, Tigers—Outpitched Al Thomas and Fred Marberry, giving only six hits to win 2-1.
Ted Lyons and Lu Blue, White Sox—Former held Yankees to six hits in ten innings and scored tying run in eighth; latter doubled and crossed with winning run in tenth.

It's not the fault of Les Manns (top) and Ross Van Atta (bottom) hurling pair, that St. Paul has roosted in the American Association cellar this season. They've labored mightly, and one of these days may get their reward in the majors.

Dahn Announces Lineup For Colonial Game Friday

Freddie Dahn today announced his full lineup for the Poughkeepsie All Stars vs. Kingston Colonial baseball game at the Athletic Field Friday evening, naming "Dutch" Rugge as the likely starting pitcher for the Bridge City club which has won 16 out of 21 games.

The lineup given by Dahn follows: Rugge and Tuttle, pitchers; Loses and Hyatt, catchers; Dowd, 1b; Druschen, 2b; Holden, ss; Strick, 3b; Shanley and Allen, rf; Gohl, cf; Robinson, lf.

Rugge a Star.
Besides being the star pitcher, Rugge leads the Poughkeepsie club in batting. His average is .485, something rather unusual for a pitcher. Nevertheless, he holds the record and contemplates turning in a spectacular hitting performance as well as showing local fans some first class hurling.

Leading run scorer of the club is Gohl, the center fielder, who is regarded as one of the most timely hitters in the Hudson valley. Dowd holds the home run record. Loses the honors for scoring the greatest number of triplets and Druschen for two-baggers. The leading base stealer is Strack, who will keep the Colonials busy once he gets on the base paths.

Some of the formidable clubs defeated by the Poughkeepsie All Stars were Winchester, Sheridan Casays, Norwich, Entente Club, Allentown Red Sox, Paterson and last but not least the Hudson River State Hospital team, which has scored victories over some of the most prominent nines in this vicinity.

Dick Williams on Mound.
Opposing the Poughkeepsie aggregation will be the same lineup that represented the Colonials last Sunday at Athens, defeating City Judge Bernard A. "Bud" Calloton and his Laundrymen 7-2. The setback was the first of the season for the Greene county brigade.

Dick Williams and Dewey Van Buren shared the pitcher's box in the contest, holding the Laundrymen to six hits all told. Williams is expected to start against the Dahmens with Van Buren in reserve to assume the hurling assignment at any stage in the battle. Joe Dulin will do the catching.

Fonseca to Continue as Manager.
Chicago, Aug. 4 (AP).—In the midst of the noise caused by the dismissal of Rogers Hornsby as pilot of the Cubs, Owner J. Louis Comiskey has come forward with the announcement that Lew Fonseca would continue as manager of the White Sox in 1933. "We haven't made much headway this year but Fonseca will manage the White Sox next season," Comiskey said.

By FANNIE HURST

WANDA WHALEN was what you might call a small town girl with a big town spirit. Although she had been born in the pretty town of Medrose, a thriving little place situated on a river notable for the beauty of its winding banks, Wanda had practically never lived there. That is, until she came home from an eastern college and found herself, for the first time in her eighteen years, confronted with the idea of spending a winter at home.

Up to that time there had been the two years that the Whalens had spent abroad, previous to the death of her father, Cyrus Whalen, president of the Medrose City bank.

Then there had been Wanda's years at a young ladies' school in Boston and the subsequent four years at a girls' college in New York state. Summers had been spent either at the elaborate camps of elaborate friends, the Medrose estate in Canada or in Europe.

All in all, Medrose had seen practically nothing of Wanda, since her toddling years.

Meanwhile, the town had grown. Quite a residential district had sprung up around the end of town that was still dominated by the handsome old Whalen mansion.

What with her parents' recent death and the marriage of an only brother and his subsequent removal to Salt Lake City, Wanda was virtually the head of that mansion. When in Medrose she shared it with a maternal aunt named Rosa Lee Masters. A faded, rather lovely-looking edition of the more robustly charming woman who had been Wanda's mother. Rosa Lee ran the house with effectiveness and skill. The brief periods that Wanda spent at home were entirely devoid of the responsibilities of her elaborate household or of the many duties that might naturally clamor for the attention of a young heiress recently come into large holdings.

Between Rosa Lee and an old distant family relative and lawyer named Jule O'Higgins, Wanda's days continued to be peculiarly care-free and devoted almost entirely to the business of making time as enjoyable as possible. To the girls of Medrose, who sometimes did Wanda injustice to regard her frequent comings and goings a snobbery, she was, nonetheless, an object of perpetual fascination and mystery. There was something exotic about Wanda. She belonged to a great outside world of things that made her a person apart from the usual run. Even the Medrose girls who were in a position to travel about a bit themselves, and who had enjoyed the advantages of finishing school, were nonetheless a little under the spell of Wanda.

She rode horseback like a daredevil. The streets of Medrose gasped to see her striding through them in natty knickers on a cross-country jaunt. She had a swimming pool built on the extensive grounds of the Whalen mansion and there were rumors of midnight swims when eastern friends came out for house parties. Once a motion picture star of international reputation, a Polish pianist and a senator from New York state had made up the personnel of one of these visiting groups.

Wanda's name and photograph were forever in the Medrose paper, to say nothing of the eastern society and daily sheets.

The town agreed, a little reluctantly, that Medrose was no place for her. There was really nothing there to keep entertained and occupied a girl-of-the-world like Wanda.

Wanda, although she felt an affection for her little home city, came to about the same decision that first winter she spent there. There were one or two girls who were agreeable to her. Edna Martin, who rode horseback with her. And the young daughter of the mayor of the town. A pretty girl named Tyrone. There were even one or two of the local boys congenial to her. Larry Flexott, who was a lawyer's apprentice and who drove his father's car like a whizz. And a rather reserved young fellow, Claiborne Clay, whose father had once been one of the influential men of the state, but whose family had gradually fallen into arrears until Claiborne and his mother, last survivors, occupied a little gray frame house on the edge of the town.

Claiborne was good fun because he was of a quieter and more thoughtful nature than any of the boys who frequented Whalen's. He was an architect by preparation and was already eagerly working toward the day when he would have earned sufficient for his first trip abroad.

But outside of this small group of picked friends, Wanda's interests lay in the world beyond. New York with its theaters, its concerts, its pastimes lured her. There were old ties to be renewed with friends she had met during the years abroad. Wanda yearned for a year in Paris. Another in Rome. Budapest! Vienna! Her first quick judgment in these years after the death of her parents was to sell the Whalen house and take up permanent abode in New York. Sentiment forbade that. Be side it was sitting that while Rosa

Lee lived the house should be kept up for her.

But it was decided almost without opposition, indeed with the cooperation of Jule O'Higgins, that the thing for Wanda to do, now that her business interests were sufficiently concentrated, was to practically transfer her residence to the metropolis. In a subtle way, in a fashion not to bring the residue of Medrose down upon her pretty head.

Because, after all, it was in Medrose that the Whalens had accumulated their fortune. Medrose had been kind to her family. Deep in her heart, however much as the sleepy little town might have bored her, Wanda felt this and was grateful.

So, on the bright spring morning that Wanda set out from Medrose for New York, few except her intimates knew that there was anything unusual about this particular departure. To all external intents and purposes, Wanda was simply off on another of her frequent jaunts, here, there and everywhere. The society column reported it. The society weekly commented upon it. And there was an end of it. But what the town at large did not know was that Wanda was practically, as she stood chic and gayly dressed at the station that day, shaking the dust of Medrose off her pretty feet.

Edna Martin and Tyrone and Larry and Claiborne were at the station to bid her adieu. There was a more solemn note than usual lying underneath it all.

Wanda was practically leaving for good. Tyrone, in spite of the fact that Wanda was promising to take her abroad with her the next summer but one, shed frank tears as the train pulled out. The boys doffed hats rather sadly. There was something a little too final about it all, not to be depressed by it.

For twenty-eight months Wanda did not set foot in Medrose, and, contrary to her expectations, neither did she go abroad, because of a course in interior decoration which had caught her attention in New York and to which she devoted the major part of her time. Tyrone went to Paris on funds fully supplied by Wanda, but, to the surprise of those who knew her, the young heiress went through with the work that was interesting her at home.

At its conclusion, however, she did go abroad. On a twelve-months' tour of Italy and France, devoting her time to a study of the galleries and old interiors of the larger European cities.

They were pleasant months, filled with interest in her work and an honest and sustained desire to get on in it.

Again her friends marvelled. Wanda was by nature as gay and as temperamentally many-colored as a hummingbird. Wanda liked to flirt. Wanda liked to drive fast cars. Dance the shimmering, shimmying dances of the period. Ride gondolas to moonlight with a youth proper to the occasion.

Wanda was in search of romance. She admitted it to herself.

It was part of the wanderlust. Somewhere on the face of the globe that she was free to wander at will, there lurked what she sought.

It kept her feet wandering on. It beckoned her from city to city, from country to country, from mood to mood.

Somewhere lurked romance. She found it in an old corner of a garden in Florence.

Turning a shaded walk, suddenly, in the Boboli gardens, she came upon the left shoulder of a young man dabbling paint upon a canvas that was propped upon a small easel.

For ten minutes, standing there regarding that left shoulder, Wanda, the level-headed Wanda, knew, before he swung around to face her, that she was in love.

Knew it with a curious, and in this case a most sure-fire, instinct of hers that was never to fail her. Of course the face, when it swung around, was to bowl her over; to paralyze her for the moment with surprise. With a flutter of heart beat. It was the face of Claiborne Clay.

It was the face that was ultimately to lead her from the four corners of the earth, back to Medrose for the culmination of her romance.

Slot Machine Principle Familiar to Egyptians

It is an interesting fact that a slot machine that was patented in the United States late in the Nineteenth century was of practically the same construction as one used about 200 B. C. in an Egyptian temple.

The credit for inventing this ingenious machine probably belongs to Ctesibius, who was also the inventor of the siphon.

The Egyptian slot machine was used to dispense purifying water to the worshippers in the temple. A clever arrangement of lever and valve inside a vase-like container allowed a small portion of the holy water to escape when the sum of five drachmas was dropped through a slot in the lid.

The weight of the correct number of coins caused the lever to open the valve in the bottom of the vase, and when the lever tilted, the coins slid off into the accumulation below, and the flow of water was stopped.

Bride's "Weighty" Dooey Betsy Hall is the heroine of a narrative of Colonial times which merely relates the fact that her father placed her in the container on one side of a large pair of scales and balanced the scales by pouring into the corresponding container shining gold pieces.

GOLD IS BEGGING IN SWITZERLAND

Country Has More of It Than She Needs.

New York.—Although afflicted by economic conditions equally with the rest of the world, little Switzerland has been placed in the paradoxical situation of having more gold than she wants or needs.

She has only about $475,000,000 out of the $11,500,000,000 world total of monetary gold, but this is about $118 per capita, and it covers her currency well over 100 per cent, as against only 60 per cent required coverage.

Gold has come to Switzerland because foreigners, fearful for the safety of their own currencies, have looked to her as a sanctuary.

Switzerland, however, has only limited resources for investment by foreigners. Her interest-paying banks have been forced to discriminate against foreign funds, not because of any desire to refuse to aid others, but because they could not afford to pay full interest on funds not capable of profitable re-investment.

Now that world currencies appear to have reached a more stable basis, economists expect that the flow of funds to her may cease.

While possessing large quantities of gold, Switzerland does not know for certain how far she may depend on keeping that gold, because of the instability of deposit of some of it. Figures are not available to show how much of the foreign deposits in Switzerland is subject to sudden recall by foreigners; to show, in effect, how much of her gold is actually hers.

Similarly, in the case of France, who now has well over $2,000,000,000 in gold, about $75 per capita, some of the deposits are not for business, but have the same psychological basis that sent gold to Switzerland—fear.

Texas Pictures Itself As Hub of Air Travel

Fort Worth, Texas.—The southwest is destined to become one of the most fertile fields of aviation in the United States, officials of air travel companies predict, with Texas to become the hub of the travel wheel.

Part of the enthusiasm aroused in aviation experts was due to the selection of Fort Worth as southern headquarters for American airways and the contracted construction of a $150,000 plant to house shops and personnel.

American Airways will concentrate its shops and most of its personnel from other points along the route from Los Angeles to Atlanta, at Fort Worth. More than 400 employees, with an annual pay roll of half a million dollars, will be stationed here.

In 1927 the first air mail landed in Texas. A year later the first passenger route was established, locally owned and operated in the Southwest. Five years later at least four major trunk lines have cut across the region and dozens of local companies operate shorter lines.

Shifting Sands Reveal Lost History Chapter

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Desert sands, which for nearly 2,000 years covered Seleucia-on-the-Tigris, are shifting to reveal a "lost" chapter in history.

Prof. Melroy Waterman, University of Michigan archeologist, home from Seleucia for his summer vacation, has described the "lost" chapter as the Empire of the Parthians.

"The Parthians," he said, "kept few records. Consequently, with the destruction of their empire, history was left without a record of their life and culture."

"But, archeology is restoring this 'lost' chapter. For the past few years we have been reading Parthian history in the excavations at Seleucia."

"We find that the site of Seleucia first was occupied by the Greeks, about 2,300 years ago. At about 150 B. C., the empire of Alexander the Great, on the Tigris, was overrun by the Parthians, a robust race from the mountains."

Paralyzed Texas Man Is Expert as Guide, Hunter

Kountze, Texas.—Though paralyzed from the waist down since early childhood, Fount Simmons, seventy-five, of the Big Thicket, is recognized as the best rallsplitter, bear slayer, deer hunter, guide, and all-around woodsman in Hardin county.

After he was stricken with paralysis at ten, Fount learned to get about on his hands and knees. He trained a goat to draw him about in a home-made cart.

Later he fashioned a special mangle and trained a pony to his ways. He then became scout, guide, and provider of meat to the many surveying parties and lumber camps.

Today he has a large pack of hounds with which he explores the great wilderness at the doorstep of his log cabin. The cabin walls are lined with pelts of all kinds of game.

Lost Wedding Ring Found in Time for Anniversary

West Union, Iowa.—The wedding ring of Mrs. Charles Wolf, lost 47 years ago, was found recently in time for the Wolf golden wedding anniversary. Lost while Mrs. Wolf was working in a field three years after her marriage, the ring was turned up under a plow plied by John Westworth, who recognized the inscription on the gold band.

Lehman Announces His Candidacy

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP).—Lieutenant-Governor Herbert H. Lehman, saying he has been assured of the support of "vast majority" today formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

A terse statement by Lehman said: "I have been asked by a great many friends and by the press whether I intend to run for governor this autumn. As it is impossible for me to reply personally to all those who have communicated with me and in order to avoid any misunderstanding of my position, I make this statement:

"I do not intend to be a candidate for governor this autumn."

"I shall not open headquarters or engage in any pre-convention campaign at the present time."

"I prefer to stand on my record of the past three and one-half years as a public official."

Mr. Lehman, a member of the private banking concern, Lehman Brothers of New York city, came into public office when Roosevelt was inaugurated governor on January 1, 1929. He is Roosevelt's choice for the Democratic nomination. He also has the support of former Governor Smith.

Mayor John Boyd Thacher of Albany, supported by the strong O'Connell organization of Albany county, also is a candidate for the nomination for governor. The O'Connells claim to have several other up-state leaders supporting Thacher.

Lehman, replying to questions of newspaper men, said:

"I have had the assurance of support from a vast majority of the up-state counties. That support has come entirely unsolicited, without letter or word from me."

The lieutenant-governor was asked if he had conferred with former Governor Smith.

"I feel," Lehman replied, "quite confident that he feels highly of me regarding my service to the people of the state. Of course, I cannot speak for Mr. Smith."

Lehman said he "frankly" did not know where John F. Curry, the Tammany leader, stood concerning his candidacy. Curry, with his allies from upstate controls the state organization. At the Chicago National Convention Lehman supported Roosevelt while Curry favored Smith.

Among the counties included by Lehman's friends as favoring him were Westchester, Cattaraugus, Rockland, Cayuga, Livingston and Tompkins.

Lehman in 1928 was one of the heaviest contributors to Smith's campaign fund and his party donations for New York city as well as state and national drives always have been near the top of the list. Until 1928 he never participated in politics except as an adviser.

Mr. Lehman, of Jewish heritage, served in the American army during the World War emerging as a colonel of the Quartermaster Corps.

BARES LOVE OF TWO MEN AT LANCASTER'S TRIAL

Miami, Fla., Aug. 4 (AP).—The story of a strange love triangle drew crowds today to the trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster, former British army flier, for the murder of Haden Clarke, his rival in the affections of Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller.

Mrs. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix who was Lancaster's flying partner and once his fiancée, was called back to the witness stand for cross examination after a three and one-half hour session in which she told of her love for the aviator and Clarke to whom she became engaged as he wrote a story of her life.

The woman gave graphic picture of the lives of the two in her testimony as a court witness.

She said she had loved and admired Lancaster, and planned for almost five years to marry him. Then she told of her sudden infatuation for Clarke, during Lancaster's absence on a business trip and of subsequent intimacies when she and the author decided to marry.

Woven through her story were accounts of contemplated suicides as an end to the difficulties—financial and emotional—of the three.

When she and Clarke reflected their apparent unfaithfulness to Lancaster in his absence, she testified, they once considered mutual suicide.

She described the efforts of the three—living together in her house here—to eke out a living; how Lancaster went to the west in an attempt to earn money in aviation venture; how she and Clarke started penning her life story in the hope it might be sold.

At intervals between the high spirals and hopes of drinking parties, she said hunger made the men go forth to return with chickens and rabbits from unexplained sources.

Mrs. Keith-Miller today faced cross questioning regarding the actions of the trio on the night before Clarke was found mysteriously shot in his bedroom at her home last April.
